Taft's campaign will now be conducted from the White House instead of from Oyster Bay.

It is unusual for a judge to "rush into print" in defense of his action on the bench.

Roosevelt stands a good chance of thoroughly convincing the public that Taft is his man Friday.

Because Foraker has been exposed is no proof that he is the only one of the kind in the Senate.

Foraker evidently recognizes the fact that Hearst has cooked his political goose ,and cooked it thoroughly done.

In future that Salisbury fellow will be more careful about how he discusses with his pals his proposed bank robberies.

It can't be denied that Hearst has done his country one good service, though Foraker cannot be expected to agree to the statement.

The Indiana by-elections are strong indications of the great political revolution that is going on in that section of the country.

We can't see how it helps Foraker's case for him to state that Hearst got those letters in an improper way. That does not relieve the situation.

Foraker seems to think hard of Taft for not standing by him in his trouble. That is expecting too much of the man whom he tried to defeat for the Presidential nomination.

Hearst may have employed a thief to get those Archbold-Foraker letters as Archbold charged, but he cannot be charged with having manufactured them.

Those were hot shots Bryan poured into Roosevelt Tuesday, but we are afraid it was just what the latter was itching for as giving him an opportunity for plunging into the campaign.

We are glad to note that the Southern Democrats are making no bid for the negro vote, and we can find none who favors making an effort to get this vote in the States of the North.

That fight in the Bronx zoological garden between two leopards in which one killed the other after a twenty minutes' desperate battle, was a sight that those who witnessed it will not soon forget.

Taft has found it necessary to get busy in the speech making line. Three speeches a day is pretty good work for him. Bryan has set a fast pace for the big man which he will find it hard to keep up with.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Sept. 23.—According to the official scorer of the New York baseball club, the local Nationals won the game today from the champions at the Polo grounds by a score of 2 to 1. The game has been protested by the Chicago club, but President Pulliam denied tonight that he had taken any action in the matter as he cannot and will not do so until the case has been presented to him in the regular form.

His official announcement tonight was a denial of a rumor that he had declared the game a tie.

The trobue arose in the ninth inning when, with the score a tie 1 to 1, New York was at the bat. Chicago had made a run in the fifth, Tinker hitting out a home run. McGraw's men had followed suit in the sixth with a run by Herzog on Steinfeldt's error, Bresnahan's sacrifice and Donlin's single.

In the latter half of the ninth, with two out, McCormick on third and Merkle on first, Bridwell smashed a single to centre scoring McCormick, the batter being declared safe at first. Just then the crowd, wild with excitement, ran on the field and Captain Chance claimed that Merkle did not go to second. He and Evers tried to get the ball there to claim a force but McGinnity caught the sphere among the crowd and threw it into left field. Merkle insisted that he had touched second base and the Chicago players were equally positive that he had not. Chance claimed the run did not count as there was so much interference that his men could not get control of the ball.

Umpire Emslie was judging the base running and is credited with saying that he did not see whether Merkle went to second or not. O'Day later on, declared that the run did not count.

While the players were arguing, a small sized riot was going on and a general melee seemed imminent but the blue uniforms of the police were easily distinguishable in the midst of the twisting, swirling mass of people on the field and what threatened to be a serious outbreak was quelled without any one being injured.

The umpires are expected to make a report to President Pulliam at once.

Post-Virginia Series.

Wilmington fans will be interested to know that the first three days this week, including yesterday, the Petersburg team re-inforced by Sharp and Kite, of the Wilmington team, defeated the Richmond champions of the Virginia League at Richmond the best two out of three. Richmond won the opening game Monday, but Petersburg with Howard and Kite as the battery defeated the champions Tuesday 6 to 1 and yesterday with Fitzpatrick and Kite the battery, the Cockade City team shut the Richmonders out 3 to 0. In Tuesday's game Kite got a three-base hit and a single and Sharp fielded beautifully, figuring in two double plays. Bussey did not pitch any of the games for Richmond, which will play the remainder of the week with Winchester, which also took two out of three from Danville, of the Virginia League, this week.

DAY'S DOING IN RALEIGH

Supreme Court Opinions Delivered—Campaign in Wake—Norfolk and Western Case—W. J. Shuford is Appointed.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 23.—The Supreme Court delivers opinions in four appeals and disposed of four others without opinions. The list follows: Glascock vs. Graw, Washington, no error; State vs. Wilkes, Green, judgment arrested; Gay vs. Lumber Company, Greene, new trial as to defendant Jackson and motion to non suit sustained as to the defendant lumber company; Simmons vs. Box Company, Craven, affirmed; State vs. Morton, Craven, per curiam affirmed; Cable Company vs. Haddon; Craven, per curiam, affirmed; Odom vs. Clark, Halifax, per curiam affirmed; Brown vs. Ellis, Franklin, dismissed under Rule 17.

Congressman E. W. Pou, Governor R. B. Glenn and others who were the principal speakers for the big Democratic rally and barbecue at Wakefield, this county, today, missed the special train this morning and were obliged to make the trip twenty miles across the country in automobiles, much of the distance over bad roads.

A typographical error in a local paper as to the time the train would leave was the cause. There was a very large crowd and great enthusiasm. The Democratic county campaign managers are putting in some hard work now to counteract conditions that have been considered to indicate reduced Democratic majorities in the November election. Ex-Governor Aycock was at Fuquay Springs last Saturday, Governor Glenn and Congressman Pou at Wakefield today and Senator Overman will be at Leesville Thursday and in Raleigh Thursday night. The Democratic outlook for the county is brightening steadily.

The Corporation Commission and its counsel were engaged today with the revision of the final brief the Commission will file within the next ten days with the Inter-State Commerce Commission in the suit pending in which the Commission seeks to compel the N. and W. to give reduced rates to points in North Carolina, notably Winston-Salem and Durham, the North Carolina terminals of the railroad, from Cincinnati and other western points. Counsel with the Commission today were T. C. Guthrie, Charlotte, and H. A. Foushee, Durham.

The Bank of Roxebel, Bertie county, received a charter today for general commercial and savings business, capital $25,000 authorized and $5,000 subscribed by R. C. Mullican, J. E. Peele, Leroy Capehart and others. Other charters are for the Hines-Humphey Co., Greenville, N. C., capital, $10,000 for bottling coco-cola and other drinks, incorporators H. C. Hines, Z. V. Humphrey and others, and the Nash County Manufacturing Company, of Springhope, capital $50,000 authorized and $25,000 subscribed by J. J. Sanders, M. H. Privett and others for a lumber and woodworking business.

A commission is issued by Governor Glenn to W. J. Shuford, of Hickory, as a member of the State Board of Agriculture frm the Ninth district to succeed Major W. A. Graham, appointed commissioner of agriculture to succeed the late S. L. Patterson

Valuable Political Atlas.

Through the local agent of the corporation, Colonel J. VanB. Metts, the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, of London and Edinburgh, is placing with trades bodies and other public places in the city copies of Rand McNally & Co.'s political atlas, which will be found a compendium of facts and figures, platforms, biographies and portraits that is indeed invaluable to the student of current political conditions. The Star returns thanks to Colonel Metts for a copy of the atlas.

ABANDONMENT CASE

Joseph Collins, Watchmaker Employed in Local Establishment, Leaves The City

BELIEVED TO BE IMPLICATED

Norfolk Authorities Notified of His Presence in Virginia—Left For Washington Aboard Pullman Last Night.

Joseph Collins, a middle-aged white man who came here from New York about a year ago and who until last Tuesday when he was summarily dismissed by his employer was engaged as a watchmaker at the jewelry establishment of Mr. Geo. Honnet, on Front street, took his departure from the city, accompanied by his wife, on northbound train No. 49 of the Atlantic Coast Line last night without making any apparent effort to clear up the ugly charge with which he has been confronted several times during the past few days that it was he who had perpetrated the cruel abandonment of his two-year-old little daughter to the care of a negress in Norfolk last week, the particulars of which appeared exclusively in these columns a few days ago.

At the time of Collins' departure last night the police of Norfolk and Wilmington, with the co-operation of Adjutant Yates, of the Salvation Army and several who had interested themselves in the case, were keeping up a lively cross-fire of letters and telegrams for the purpose of identifying Collins beyond peradventure so that an arrest could be made. Collins admitted to several having carried the child North Sunday a week ago, but stated that she was to be placed in a foundlings' home in New York city and that he could produce a receipt to that effect. The receipts, so far as anyone knows never came, and the departure of Collins and his wife, who seemed to have objected to the children in the first instance, was without handshakes or good-byes to any one whom they knew here. They traveled in Section 12 of the Pullman attached to the northbound train and their tickets read to Washington, D. C.

Strange to say the departure of the man played exactly into the hands of the police of the two cities who have had him under surveillance for several days. Collins would be charged in Virginia only with a misdemeanor and the question of a requisition for a crime below the grade of a felony would rest in the discretion of the Governor. The local police hesitated at an arrest here for fear of failing on a requisition, but when Collins left last night, his Pullman berth and the reading of his ticket was carefully noted and a telegram was at once sent by Chief Williams to Chief of Police H. Mallory Boush, of Norfolk, notifying him that Collins would be in the State of Virginia at Richmond at 5:15 this morning and he could get him there, if he desired. Chief Williams heard nothing from the telegram last night, but it is presumed that the Norfolk chief at once wired to Richmond where the arrest will be made and from which city no requisition to carry him to Norfolk will be required.

Collins stated on Tuesday that he was going to move out of the neighborhood in which he resided because of the talk of the neighbors, but such was not the case as he had already rented another house on Sixth street before the trouble came up. Besides, the neighbors had not unduly interferred in Collins' affairs, except when the cause of humanity demanded it and they are to be commended for it. Nothing, therefore, was thought yesterday evening when they began packing their effects though several took occasion to go to the station to see if they were leaving on the night train. The family had lived in the vicinity of Seventh and Chesnut streets for some time and the neighbors had been very kind to them. A twin sister of the little deformed girl alleged to have been left in Norfolk was adopted by one of the neighbors only a short time ago when it was seen upon his marrying the second wife that he was determined to get rid of them. This child has now been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Gilbert and the pity is, that the other had not been equally as fortunate in being placed in a good home.

According to the stories freely circulated on the street, Collins soon after the death of his first wife about a year ago, went to New York and married the second wife now with him, representing to her that he had no children, though a widower. Upon her arrival in Wilmington, it is said that the second wife seriously objected to the little ones and the husband immediately took steps to find homes for them. One of them was disposed of to a neighbor temporarily until the home could be found with Mr. Gilbert. The other was slightly paralyzed on one side and Collins announced that he would take her to New York and place her in a home where she could receive the best attention. The suspicions of the neighbors were aroused when he returned from New York so quickly and then the Norfolk papers fell into the hands of some one acquainted with the circumstances and Adjutant Yates, of the Salvation Army was besought to do something to reclaim the little one. Subsequent events have already been told. The alleged act of Collins caused much feeling toward him in the community and it is perhaps best that he is gone, at least until he can clear up the ugly suspicions directed towards him.

Where do you keep your money? is it safe, better deposit with the People's Savings Bank, where it will be absolutely safe, and you can get it at any time. They allow 4 per cent. compound interest. sep 23 24 26.

IN HANDSOME NEW MANSE

Pretty Home of Dr. and Mrs. A. D. McClure Dedicated With Informal Ceremony Last Night—Happy Occasion.

The handsome new manse of Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Church,recently completed at a cost of upwards of $7,000 on North Fourth street adjoining the church building, was formally dedicated with a word of prayer, scripture reading and an informal reception to their friends assembled by Dr. and Mrs. McClure, in connection with the prayer meeting service of the congregation last evening.

The manse had been occupied by Dr. McClure and family only the afternoon before and the prayer meeting in the church was concluded by the congregation's proceeding quietly over to the pretty new home, the pastor carrying in his hand his Bible, the first book taken into his study, the significance of this incident being explained by Dr. McClure upon laying it on the table, saying that he "Wanted this to be the standard and the soul of living in this house." The pastor then read the Twelfth Chapter of Romans, after which Mr. W. H. Sprunt, the son of the first elder of the congregation, being absent, Dr. A. D. McDonald, the senior elder, led in a very fervent prayer of dedication for God's blessing upon the household. The long metre doxology and the benediction by the pastor completed the formal dedication, after which Dr. and Mrs. McClure and their interesting little children now at home, received the happiest congratulations of their friends assembled.

The manse is one of the most attractive and comfortable in the State, if not in the South, and was erected as a recognition of a long and faithful pastorate by the beloved Dr. A. D. McClure, who came to the congregation 17 years ago from the Maryland Avenue Presbyterian Church in Baltimore. It was a pleasant coincidentce that Dr. McClure's first service was a prayer meeting similar to that last night, which made the occasion for opening the handsome new manse. The manse was built according to plans drawn by Mr. E. Stanley Field and the construction was under the personal direction of Dr. Joseph Akerman, chairman of the Building Committee, who came second to Dr. and Mrs. McClure in congratulations upon the successful culmination of their hopes last night. The manse is not only a very handsome one on the exterior, but is finished beautifully on the interior and is most conveniently arranged. Combination gas and electric fixtures are installed, all the wiring being invisible, and the house is furnace heated throughout. The convenience and comfort of the family is the end attained in the every arrangement and appointment of the home.

The pastor's study, located with due regard to quiet and comfort, to the left and rear of the first floor hallway, has been handsomely furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Bagley as a memorial to their son, the late Thomas P. Bagley, whose death so shocked the community a few months since. The Young People's Christian Endeavor Society, as a compliment to their pasotr, have furnished the dining room with a beautiful mahogany set of furniture wdile handsome druggest have been placed in the parlor and sitting room by a friend and member of the congregation as a Christmas present to Dr. and Mrs. McClure. The pastor's study is furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Bagley in handsome leather upholstered easy chairs, antique oak tables, Lundstrom beaded glass book cases, handsome bronze grate, etc. From his personal friend, Mr. J. W. VanCleave, of Baltimore, the kitchen of the home has been furnished with an elegant range from the Bucks Stove and Range Company. The water supply in adition to that furnished by the Clarendon system, is from an artesian well of 98 feet depth, affording a copious and wholesome flow from beneath a strata that guarantees the best of water.

Dr. McClure is to be congratulated not only by his congregation but by the whole people of Wilmington, with whom he is so universally popular, upon the happy occasion in the seventeenth year of a useful ministry last night in his new home.

Prominent Speakers Coming.

In addition to the list of speakers already announced, it is understood that Senator Overman and ex-Governor C. B. Watson will also make addresses here before the campaign is over. Both will be heartily welcomed here.

ROAD BOND ELECTION

Issuance of $50,000 For Continuing Permanent Improvement Before Voters Today.

RESULT RATHER IN DOUBT

Polls Open at Sunrise and Close at Sunset—Saloons Out of Business For the Day—Registration and Information.

Under authority of an act of the Legislature of 1907, the voters of New Hanover, or at least that portion of the electorate which qualified itself by having their names entered upon the books during the recent period of registration, will vote today upon the question of the issuance of an additional $50,000 in bonds "for continuing and completing the construction and improvement of the public roads and bridges of the county."

The question is one which has been much discussed in the public prints and on the streets of late and the result of the election may safely be said to be in doubt, there being a strong sentiment against issuing bonds in addition to the large amount recently voted and never sold in the city. The impression is that in the central wards of the city and in the country, the issue will carry by a good majority, which may or may not be offset by the results in the first and fifth wards, where the registration is unusually heavy, there being 270 names on the books in the first and 345 in the fifth. The greatest danger will lie in the failure of people who are registered and who are in favor of the bonds to go to the polls and cast their votes, a majority of the registered votes being required in contradistinction to the number of votes actually cast, to sarry the issue. There is a total of approximately 1,540 names registered and something like 800 will be required to carry the issue through.

The polls open this morning at sunrise and close at sunset. The figures as to sunrise and sunset differ somewhat between Turner's North Carolina almanac, generally accepted as the standard in political affairs, and those given out by the United States Weather Bureau here, but the latter will be accepted. Sunrise will be at 6:02 this morning and sunset at 6:06 P. M. The weather indications are fair for today and this is expected to make the largest vote possible. As required by law, the saloons of the city closed at sunset yesterday evening and will remain closed until sunrise tomorrow, the limit being 12 hours each way.

The official election notice published elsewhere in today's paper gives all information desired as to polling places, officers of election, etc.

ACTION WAS DISMISSED
Suit Brought by A. W. Pate Against Herbert McClammy, Esq.

Owing to the circumstances of the civil suit brought by A. W. Pate, the real estate agent, against Herbert McClammy, Esq., arising from the sale of a piece of property to the Christian church, some interest was created at the hearing in Justice Bornemann's court ysterday morning. The plaintiff, who alleged that he was due commission to the amount of $107.50 on the sale of the property, was represented by L. Clayton Grant, Esq., and Hon. John D. Bellamy, appeared for Mr. McClammy.

It was disclosed at the hearing that Mr. McClammy, who was the sole owner of the property in question, offered it for sale to the trustees of the Christian church for $4,300, and Mr. Pate being a member of the board, requested to consummate the deal, and it is alleged did so, acting in the capacity of a representative of the trustees. The transfer was made, according to the contention, at a considerable reduction to the first consideration, owing to the fact that the property was transferred to the parties mentioned. With this evidence in view, Justice Bornemann dismissed the action. The plaintiff contends that the commission is rightfully due and took an appeal to the higher court.

Will Erect New Home and Store.

A building permit was issued yesterday by City Building Inspector John J. Furlong to Mr. J. B. Fales, for the erection of an eleven-room dwelling and store on southwest corner of Castle and Seventh streets, the structures estimated to cost $4,000. This is among the few large permits issued during the past few months and the erection of the structures will begin immediately.

THE NEXT SENATE.

There will be a great many changes in the personnel of the Senate at its next session. Since the beginning of the present Congress death has removed from that body Senators Morgan and Pettus of Alabama; Mallory and Bryan, of Florida; Lattimer, of South Carolina; White, of Maryland; Proctor of Vermont, and Allison of Iowa. Most of these have already been succeeded by new men. The Iowa vacancy is a cause of much disturbance to the Republicans of that State because of the fact that Governor Cummins it a candidate for the place which the law requires him to fill by appointment. This vacancy will probably continue until the Legislature meets in November to ratify the selection by popular vote taken at the time of the Presidential election. There will be other changes by the substitution of new men for present encumbents. Several States have already held primaries and chosen new men, to be elected by the Legislatures which meet this winter. Senator Ankeny, of Washington is one of these. The Oregon Legislature, which is Republican, is under pledge to elect Governor Chamberlain, who is a Democrat, in place of present Senator Fulton, a Republican, because the former was victorious in the States primary held not long ago for selecting a Senator. Senators Hansbrough, of North Dakota, Kittridge, of South Dakota and Long, of Kansas have each been defeated for renomination by primaries. There are still other States which will hold primaries for choosing Senators and in some of these there will likely be changes. The indications are that the conservative element in the Senate will be much weaker in the sixty-first Congress and that Senator La Follette will have more company than at present. It seems that the effect of popular vote or—what is the same thing—nomination by primaries, is to shorten Senatorial terms. Senator Allison's case was an exception. He was chosen last Spring by the Republican primary for election to his sixth term.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS IN INDIANA.

Elections were held in a number of counties in Indiana a few days ago to fill vacancies in the Legislature. The results show wonderful changes since the last election. Republicans lost heavily in every instance, and in many counties which have been stringly Republican heretofore the Democratic candidates were elected. An exchange gives the following account of the results:

"Five Republican counties in the northern part of the State, which gave Roosevelt a majority of 2,500, went Democratic by nearly 200. Three Democratic counties in the southern part of the State went against Parker by 1,725 and on Thursday gave a Democratic majority of nearly 200. One county where the Republicans had a majority four years ago of 4,646, and where they normally have a majority of 3,000, they carried last week by 272. Muncie, a Republican stronghold, was carried by the Democrats by 2,200. In four counties making one senatorial district the Republicans generally have a majority in each county and an aggregate majority of 2,500. On Thursday they had 59. Such changes as these will turn Roosevelt's majority of 94,000 into a Bryan majority of 40,000."

These figures are very encouraging to the Democrats, for they indicate a tremendous falling off in the Republican vote. They give the Democrats good reason to think they will be able to secure the electoral vote of that State. And Indiana is not the only one of the States in that section of the country where such political revolution is going on. Bryan there is stronger than his party and he will get many votes from Republicans who want no more of Roosevelt or Roosevelt policies and who think that to vote for Taft would be nothing but endorsing those policies.

BRYAN'S CHANCES.

No one can deny Bryan's Democracy now that he has been entertained by D. B. Hill at Wolfert's Roost, and Hill can still lay claim to being a Democrat.

Not for a long time has there been such harmony among Democrats and unanimity in behalf of the candidate for the nomination. Were Cleveland alive today he would not endorse the articles he wrote some time before his death giving his reasons for preferring Taft to Bryan and he would have the manliness to acknowledge his mistake and to say that Bryan's recent utterances had won him over to the side of the Democratic candidate. All the signs political point to the election of Bryan. Certainly he has a better chance than he had on either other occasion of his nomination. The Democrats are united. The Republicans torn by factions, have a candidate who was forced on them by Roosevelt for the purpose of carrying out certain policies which a great many members do not endorse.

Some of the papers are still quarreling with the railroad because of the rule established regarding mileage books. The Atlanta Journal says, by way of argument against the rule that in Georgia some of the ticket agents "pull" more than the proper number of miles when exchanging a ticket for the mileage coupons. If that is really done it could be easily remedied by reporting such agents to headquarters. Traveling men who allow themselves to be cheated in that way deserve to lose. And, again, conductors would be as liable as station agents to take this advantage of mileage book holders. We cannot see any force in such an argument. On the other hand the rule was adopted for the protection of the railroads against the taking advantage of them in several ways by some holders of these books.

Bryan's prospects grow brighter every day. What popular vote he may lose in the South where he will receive every electoral vote, he will more than make up in the Republican States of the North and Northwest, where he has good chances of gaining enough electoral votes to give him the victory.

The announcement of the intended departure from Wilmington of Rev. R. W. Hogue will be received with general regret by the people of this city. He will be missed by people outside of his own congregation as well as by members of the same.

The latest thing is bear hunting in automobile in the Adirondacks. One man made a success of it the other day. The noise of his machine going through the woods scared up two bears and he shot one without getting out of his seat.

The Raleigh board of aldermen proves a better friend to the dog than has the Legislature if such a thing could be possible. The dog has his day all the time in this State.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Within three days, Durham has been the scene of two brutal murders, and almost a third one when one negro tried to carve another one Sunday.—Durham Herald.

—Taft says it is o. k. to guarantee government deposits in banks but wrong to protect the individual depositor. But the Republicans of Kansas repudiate Taft's views and adopt the Democratic platform. All the other States would do likewise if the banking trust would permit.—News and Observer.

—It is plain that Mr. William R. Hearst intends to run amuck through the present campaign and, if his coming performances are as interesting as his Standard Oil disclosures, he will be a central figure in the whole fight. And it is quite possible that nothing could please him better than that.—Baltimore American Star.

—The Ohio Democrats are jubilant. It gives them the opportunity for which they have been praying for weeks. Up to this time the Republicans have had them tied hard and fast to the wet side of the liquor issue, and the Democrats have been squirming and twisting themselves into knots trying to get away from it. Now along comes a real sure-thing octopus issue, and the Democrats have jumped at it like a bullfrog for a red rag. They say they will put the Republicans in Ohio in a position where they will have to switch from rum to oil.—New York Sun.

—"The Republican outlook in Oklahoma is hopeless, I fear," said C. E. Schoenfelt, a leading lawyer of Muskogee, Okla., at the Raleigh. "I am a Republican, and hope for Republican victory, but there is no use claiming victory when facts do not warrant. I believe the Republican vote in Oklahoma will be a large one—larger by a good deal than in the last election—but that we have any chance of carrying the State for Taft or defeating the Democratic State ticket I do not believe."—Washington Post.

—A married woman of limited income, who was off with her husband for a month's vacation by the sea, says it was the first holiday that she had found for years. "Think of it!" she exclaimed. "For four whole weeks I shall sit down to the table and not know what I am going to eat." That was where the "holiday" came in and there are many more "little housekeeping women" who will sympathize with her idea of what a vacation means.—Boston Herald.

—The cause of his political ruin makes it not a private but a public tragedy. It is no mere personal or party matter when one of the ablest Senators in the Congress of the United States is found to have been secretly employed by the Standard Oil Company, to have been a paid lobbyist of the Standard Oil Company, even to have borrowed money from the Standard Oil Company for the purchase of a newspaper which was to have been used to mislead public opinion. It is no mere personal or party matter when the exposure of this Senator's secret relations with Standard Oil helps to discredit everything which he advocated in public affairs, the good as well as the bad.—Today's New York World.

—It is hardly necessary to say that unless the Ohio Senator can show that these letters are false, his usefulness to his party in the present campaign is completely destroyed, and that it will also be in order for him to withdraw from public life. In connection with his previous admissions, they can bear only the construction that in the Senate he has had such dealings with the most powerful corporation in the country, as no member of that body can engage in without forfeiture of confidence in his integrity as a public servant. It is obvious, moreover, as regards the present campaign that Mr. Taft, in justice to himself, cannot too promptly cause Senator Foraker to be invited to make his exit from the stump.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

—At the end of last week the price of wheat of the export trade was something over $1 per bushel, and the price of corn around 86 cents per bushel. The average price of pretty nearly every food product on the market—the exceptions are less than a half dozen articles—is from 25 per cent. to 60 per cent. higher than it was ten years ago. The high price of corn is, of course, chiefly responsible for the marked advance which has taken place in the price of beef and pork. It is the habit to charge up the rise in the price of meats entirely to the greed of the Packing Trust. Beef and pork, however, are but transmuted forms of grass and grain.—Baltimore American Star.

—Something like 190,000 freight cars that were idle last April have been put back into active service again. This takes up very nearly half the great slack that then existed. The larger part of this grand array of recommissioned freight carriers goes to the West and South to help haul the harvests to market. This season of the year invariably brings with it the extra demand for thousands of cars, just as it also brings the demand in South and West for more ready money. The cars and cash are needed for the same purpose. The Summer products of old Mother Earth must be garnered and carried to the cities and from there distributed in all directions. Ordinarily there is a loud cry in the Autumn of "car famine," but this year the diminished business in coal and steel and the drop in ordinary traffic have left many cars idle. It is this surplus that is now ready for the farmers.—Philadelphia Press.

TWINKLINGS.

—"Give me a penny, sir, for somethings to eat." "But you've got sixpence in your hand now. What's that for?" "Oh, that's to tip the waiter, sir."—London Globe.

—"So, Wild Bill died of a snake bite? Whar did he get bit?" "Oh, th' snake didn't bite Bill. Th' snake bit Tough Tompkins, an' Tompkins drank two quarts o' th' remedy an' then shot Bill.—Judge's Library.

—Niece—Uncle, they say that there are more marriages of blondes than of brunettes. Why is it, I wonder? Uncle Singleton (a confirmed bachelor)—H'm! Naturally, the light-headed ones go first.—Stray Stories.

—Footpad—Fork over your money, now, or I'll blow your brains out! Whoopler—Blow away, my dear fellow! A chap can get along in New York without brains, but he cannot without money.—Puck.

—"Pa, what' the difference between a rhyme and a poem?" "The person who makes a rhyme stands some chance of seeing it printed, even if it is merely put on a card to be stuck up in an 'L' car."—Chicago Record-Herald.

—"Women are so obstinate." "What's the matter now?" "Ever since Dr. Asked said in New York that the American husband is ideal, I've wanted my wife to write and thank him—and she won't do it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

—"Has that titled son-in-law of yours any business sense?" "Yes," answered Mr. Dustintax. "I must say I admire his foresight and sagacity. He absolutely refused to take any chances on my regarding him as a poor relation."—Washington Star.

The Swine or the Flower?

Ah me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty,
Wherein a drove of wallowing swine were barred,
Whose banquet shocked the nostril and the eye;
Then spoke a voice, "Behold the source of lard!"
I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first
One glistening mass of roses pure and white,
With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage nursed;
And, as I lingered o'er the lovely sight,
The summer breeze, that cooled that Southern scene,
Whispered, "Behold the source of COTTOLENE!"

POI IN HAWAII.

The Favorite Food of the Natives and How It Is Made.

In years gone by each native Hawaiian took a particular pride in producing his own poi (a food made from the taro plant), but nowadays it is made in factories, the work being done almost wholly by the native born Chinamen, who receive $1 per day for their labors.

I was fortunate enough at Lahaina, however, to see this staff of life made in the old fashioned way. The taro plant seems to be a cross between a sweet potato and a turnip, and the root is long and fleshy. This, after steaming, must be pounded into a sort of flour before mixing. A stone pestle is used, and often it requires hours to beat the root to the proper consistency. When a certain stage is reached water is added, and it is worked into a thin paste, put into a barrel and allowed to ferment. The taste for poi has to be acquired, and few if any foreigners ever care for it as food. To me it suggested sour starch. It is served on the native table in a huge wooden bowl known as a calabash, from which it is eaten with the fingers, each member of the family dipping into the same dish. The number of fingers used is measured by the thickness of the poi, three fingers being required for the thinnest and one for that mixed to the consistency of mush. The taro plant is easily cultivated (this is also done by Chinamen), and I am told that one square mile of taro will feed 15,000 natives. Factory made poi, which is pinkish purple in color, costs $1 a bag, about the size of a flour sack containing an eighth of a barrel. It is nutritious, cheap and fattening. Poi is the principal food of the lauas (native feasts). Roast pig is usually the meat on these festive occasions.—Leslie's Weekly.

THE COMIC SPIRIT.

Thoughtful Laughter Is the Test of True Comedy.

One excellent test of the civilization of a country I take to be the flourishing of the comic idea and comedy, and the test of true comedy is that it shall awaken thoughtful laughter.

If you believe that our civilization is founded on common sense—and it is the first condition of sanity to believe it—you will when contemplating men discern a spirit overhead, luminous and watchful, never shooting beyond them or lagging in the rear, so closely attached to them that it may be taken for a slavish reflex until its features are studied.

Its common aspect is one of unsolicitous observation. Men's future upon earth does not attract it. Their honesty and shapeliness in the present do. And whenever they wax out of proportion, overblown, affected, pretentious, bombastical, hypocritical, pedantic, fantastically delicate; whenever it sees them self deceived or hoodwinked, given to run riot in idolatries, drifting into vanities, congregating in absurdities, planning shortsightedly and plotting dementedly; whenever they are at variance with their professions and violate the unwritten but perceptible laws binding them in consideration one to another; whenever they offend sound reason, fair justice, are false in humility or mined with conceit, individually or in bulk, the spirit overhead will look humanely malign and cast an oblique light on them, followed by volleys of silvery laughter. That is comic spirit.—"An Essay on Comedy" by George Meredith.

His Coffee Not Hot.

There are all sorts of tastes in New York, and, of course, everything is a matter of taste anyhow, as the old woman said when she kissed the cow. But one can find many strange ideas of how things should be done by simply listening while in a restaurant. The most unusual was heard in a quick lunch resort downtown the other day.

"Give me a cup of strong black coffee, not hot," was the order, and the waiter never said a word, just went along to fill the order, which a moment later proved to be a cup of steaming coffee with a piece of ice in the saucer to be used at the discretion of the diner.—New York Globe.

Like Father, Like Son.

Rev. Dr. Somers was in the habit of addressing Sarah, his wife, in polysyllables when he wished the children to leave the room. He never dreamed that they understood until nine-year-old Jack, recovering from measles, was one day enjoying the dear privilege of hearing his mother read aloud.

The doctor ventured in and began softly, "Sarah"—

Up rose Master Jack in bed. "Sarah," quoth he, "eliminate the obnoxious element!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

His Investment.

Old Lady (who had given the tramp a nickel)—Now, what will you do with it? Hungry Hobo—Waal, ye see, mum, ef I buy an auto there ain't enough left to hire a shofur, so I guess I'll git a schooner. I kin handle that meself.—Bohemian.

Cautious.

"How did pa act when you asked him for my hand?"

"Very gentle and courteous. It quite took me by surprise."

"I told him you used to be a pugilist."—Kansas City Independent.

Attorney—When did your husband first show signs of insanity, madam? Wife—The day he married me. I then discovered he was making only $10 a week.

PRETTY MARRIAGE

Miss Susie Emily Davis and Mr. Clarence E. Hill Wedded.

One of the prettiest of the Fall home weddings was solemnized last evening at 6:15 o'clock, when Miss Susie Emily Davis and Mr. Clarence Elbert Hill, a popular young couple, were married at the home of the bride's sister Mrs. L. W. Williford, 301 North Third street. The happy nuptials were attended by a concourse of admiring friends and relatives, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Fred D. Hale, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church.

The home was tastily decorated for the occasion and presented a pretty scene. The attendants were Miss Althea Davis, a sister of the bride, as maid-of-honor, and Mr. Charles B. Newcombe, who was best man. Immediately following the ceremony the couple repaired to the station, and after receiving many congratulations, departed for a trip of ten days to Florida. Upon their return they will make their home at No. 411 Dock street, where they will be pleased to greet their friends. Mr. Hill came to Wilmington some time ago from Laurens, S. C., and has made many friends in this city, where he holds a responsible position with the Atlantic Coast Line. The bride is the accomplished young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Davis, of Southport, and has a host of admiring friends in Wilmington, who extend best wishes.

PROMINENT OFFICERS COMING.

These prominent Salvationists are on a tour of their district and will conduct services each night while in the city, their arrival marking the close of the great Harvest Festival, which is just now being observed all over the world and during which time the public is always generous in making possible the matchless work of the vast organization. The headqaurters of this district are now in Washington, D. C., having recently been removed from Baltimore to the capital city. Further announcement of the services to be held here will be made later.

It Can't Be Beat.

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c.

The Theatre

Lyman H. Howe's Lifeorama to be seen at the Academy Saturday at matinee and night is said to be an inexhaustible mine of enjoyment, that the new programme is so varied that it teaches, amuses, diverts and impresses the young, the grave, the searching, the idle. It inspires thought in the tyro, affords a world of reminiscence to the well traveled and unmixed delight to the stay-at-home.

One of its features portrays that land of terrible extremes—India. The pictures were secured by special authority of the Indian Government and the Secretary of State. It reveals the most modern city—Calcutta—"the city of hovels and palaces," as well as the ancient city—Benares.

Beautiful architecture is represented by a personally conducted drive through Rome. The beauties of nature are revealed during a trip by automobile through Savoy, France. Stirring sports and pastimes are depicted by Australians; tumultous city life is pictured in Naples; a thrilling 10-mile steeplechase in England affords sensation and excitement beyond most sanguine expectations; intensely humorous episodes of animal and bird life; the annimal drill by the Reedham Orphans, etc., all are contained in one programme that is said to be admirable at once for its variety and photographic perfection and realism.

The matinee prices will be 15 and 25 cents, while at night the prices will be 25, 35 and 50 cents. The lower floor will be 35 and 50 cents and seats will go on sale tomorrow.

At the Crystal Palace.

Today the Crystal Palace will make an entire change of programme. Of course the same clever artists will be seen but they will be in entirely new acts, and acts, too, that will be of splendid nature. The artists now appearing at the Palace are presenting polite vaudeville of standard type and are doing so in exceedingly bright and refined manner, according to those who have seen the show. This has attracted the ladies and children by the score and the matinees are big ones. Last night, as the previous evenings, capacity business was the order of attendance and each audience was most liberal in applause. The matinee performances start at 4 o'clock and the night performances at 8.

OTHER GOODS RECOVERED.

Dancey Lewis, Colored, Given Trial in Police Court Yesterday.

Following the investigation of the case against Dancey Lewis, colored, believed to have been a member of a gang of thieves, who after his arrest was given a preliminary trial and placed under a bond of $100 each, in two cases, at the session of the police court yesterday noon, Capt. Green, city detective, upon confessions made on the stand by Lewis, recovered a quantity of additional articles of various kinds known to have been stolen in his search of the home of an alleged accomplice yesterday afternoon.

Most of the articles found in the possession of or traced to Dancey Lewis, were identified by Mr. A. B. Skelding and Mr. W. J. Craig, but the negro emphatically denied stealing them and told several stories of how they were obtained. From the evidence in the case it seems very likely that Lewis entered various homes during the Summer while the residences were closed. A large amount of goods taken from Lewis is still at police headquarters awaiting identification. It is believed that Mr. P. R. Albright is the owner of some of the property being held, and it is likely will be identified by him as soon as he returns to the city from Richmond. Capt. Green has in his possession a double case silver watch bearing the name of Tom Loftin, which was recovered in his search for stolen property and he would be pleased to surrender the watch to its owner. Among other articles which have not been claimed is a handsome pair of gold glasses.

Capt. Green was engaged for some time yesterday afternoon in the search of a negro's home on Fifth street between Nun and Church streets, and as a result he found a number of things which are known to have been stolen. While he was making the search, two negro women who had knowledge of how certain property had been obtained, made an effort to smuggle them from the house without detection, but they were baffled in this attempt. Among the things found was a lady's very valuable evening costume, believed to have been stolen from Mr. Albright's home. This was taken from a trunk with numerous other small articles.

HASKELL'S RESIGNATION

As Treasurer of Democratic Committee Being Urged by Some of the Committeemen Because of Publication of Charges.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Sept. 23.—It became known at Democratic headquarters tonight that several National committeemen are preparing to use every influence to bring about the removal of Governor Charles N. Haskell from the office of treasurer of the National committee.

This is a result of the publication of charges that Mr. Haskell as Governor of Oklahoma declined to permit the State to prosecute the Prairie Oil Company, a subsidiary company of the Standard Oil Company.

Charges that Governor Haskell had been identified with several railroad promotions in this city, which are said to have been unfortunate in the matter of consummation, are said tonight to have also tended to increase the feelings of these National Committeemen that the time has come for Haskell to resign from the committee or be removed. National Chairman Mack is taking no action in the matter at present, nor would he state tonight what the outcome might be with reference to the Haskell matter, though his attitude is known to be such as to oppose the continuance on the committee of any man whose affiliations are proved to be with corporations which are opposed to Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Mack said tonight that he had had no communication with Mr. Bryan or Governor Haskell on the matter and that he would take no action unless President Roosevelt brought absolute proof of the charges.

It was made plain by National committeemen tonight that when Governor Haskell was selected as treasurer of the committee there was not the slightest knowledge that any charge or suggestion could be made against him with regard to his attitude or connection with railroad promotions and that Mr. Bryan himself had no knowledge of the matter. Chairman Mack declared today that if the charges against Governor Haskell were proved he would expect him to resign.

Speaking of the report from Chicago that the campaign fund of the Republican party was about $300,000, Mr. Mack said that the funds in the Democratic treasury were less than that. He said that no contributions had been received above $10,000 and that the committee would abide by the rule not to accept single contributions in amounts larger than that sum.

National Committeeman Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina, tonight said that Governor Haskell had been made treasurer mainly for the reason that he came from a State, Oklahoma, which adopted a law guaranteeing State bank deposits.

The total spindles are classified as 22,914,561 ring and 4,930,970 mule. Of the total there were 10,093,960 active spindles and 2,256,613 bales consumed in what are known as the cotton growing States. in which States there were 658,489 bales held on August 31st, of which 118,188 were in manufacturers' hands. The total number of cotton consuming spindles was 25,811,681 for 1906.

The statistics of cotton taken, consumed, and of stocks are for all establishments using raw cotton, including cotton mills, woolen mills, hosiery and knit goods establishments, those engaged in the manufacture of mattresses and the like; statistics of cotton consuming spindles include those which consumed cotton only during the year and do not include those which consumed cotton mixed with other fibres. The totals of the table include 6,596 bales of foreign cotton in 1908 and 8,665 in 1907 consumed by manufacturers in the cotton growing States and 100,866 bales in 1908 and 131,703 bales in 1907 consumed by manufacturers in all other States. The statistics of both domestic and foreign cotton are in running bales, gross weight.

The full report distributing by States, statistics and other data regarding cotton authority in this and other countries will be ready for distribution the latter part of October. The statistics in this report for 1908 are preliminary and subject to slight corrections in the final report.

THE CHOLERA SPREADING

In City of St. Petersburg—It Has Appeared in the Residences of the Nobility and Even the Royal Winter Palace.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

St. Petersburg, Sept. 23.—Not only has the number of cases of Asiatic cholera in this city increased today, but the disease has invaded the aristocratic precincts of St. Petersburg. It has even reached the Winter palace, one case having been discovered in the servant's quarters of the palace in which extensive preparations are going on in the expectation that the Emperor and Empress will spend part of the coming season in the capital. Other cases have been discovered in the palace of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, the Tauride palace, the palace of Prince Alexander Oldenburg, a cousin of the Emperor and the Imperial opera house.

A number of diplomats and prominent society people have hurried their departure abroad, but the exodus has been checked to a considerable extent by the prospect of being held in quarantine at the frontier.

In order to test the efficiency of vaccination in cholera cases several graduate students of St. Petersburg University voluntarily permitted themselves to be vaccinated after which they drank a solution containing cholora germs.

COLONEL SLOCOMB ACCEPTS

Will Make the Race for Congress on Republican Ticket in Sixth District.

Colonel A. H. Slocomb, of Fayetteville, who was in the city yesterday on private business, announced before leaving yesterday afternoon that he had received formal notification from the committee appointed for that purpose and would accept the nomination as the Republican candidate for Congress in this district, recently tendered him by the convention held in this city. Colonel Slocomb stated to a close personal friend that until yesterday, he had not decided whether he would accept, but after mature deliberation he had determined "to go to Washington after the 4th of next March and represent the people of his district to his very best ability," which was after all a very neat, if not altogether a modest, way of putting it.

MAYOR COMMITTED SUICIDE

West Tampa's, Fla., Executive Takes His Own Life.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 23.—In the presence of his wife, who had just told him good bye, intending to begin proceedings for divorce, Francisco Milian, mayor of West Tampa, committed suicide in a bed room at his residence this afternoon by placing the muzzle of a revolver in his mouth and discharging two bullets through his brain.

Milan had served eight terms as mayor of West Tampa and enjoyed the respect of all citizens. He was a Cuban by birth.

THE INJUNCTION DENIED.

Application of Baltimore & Ohio Railroad on Coal Car Question.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 23.—The application of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for a preliminary injunction to restrain the Inter-State Commerce Commission from making an order relative to coal car distribution was denied by the United States circuit court here today. The order to which the railroad company objected was one requiring the railroad company to include so-called "private" and "foreign railway fuel" cars in making up its percentage of allotments of cars.

THE CRUISER YANKEE AGROUND

She is Badly Damaged—Fear of a Total Loss.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Sept. 22.—Late dispatches received at the Navy Department today show that the cruiser Yankee, which went ashore at the entrance of Buzzard's Bay early today during a fog, is seriously injured, and it is feared that unless she is floated before heavy weather sets in she may prove a total loss. There are a number of punctures in the bottom of the vessel, some of the frames are bent and A. 2 forward compartment is full of water. Wrecking apparatus with divers and vessels to lighter the ship by removing her cargo have been hurried to the locality of the accident, and every effort is being made to save the ship. An assistant naval constructor stationed at the Brooklyn navy yard has been directed to proceed to the wreck and to give the officers in charge information and advice. The colliers Nero and Lebanon and two tugs also have been sent to Buzzards Bay, the coaling ships to be available in lightering the Yankee of her guns and cargo if necessary. The Yankee's armament is made up principally of 3-inch guns, of which there are about a dozen. The Yankee is a product of the Spanish-American war when she was purchased from one of the coast lines at a price approximating $550,000. During that war she had aboard the New York naval militia in command of Rear Admiral, then Captain W. H. Brownson.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 23.—The United States cruiser Yankee which struck on Spindle Rock, near the western entrance to Buzzard's Bay during a fog today, breaking several holes in her hull on the port side, was still hard fog was still very thick in Buzzards and last night. Several tugs attempted to release the cruiser this afternoon but without success and additional help was sent for tonight. The fog was still very thick in Buzzard's Bay tonight, but the sea was smooth and the Yankee was apparently in no immediate danger.

TAFT IN CHICAGO

Rousing Reception—The Day Spent in Indiana—Speaks at Harbor.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Sept. 23.—A crowd that blocked most of the passageways of the LaSalle station greeted William H. Taft on his arrival at Chicago this afternoon. The Republican standard bearer's smile which beamed through the State of Indiana during the earlier part of the day showed no hint of fatigue as he was escorted through the crowd to a waiting automobile. All along the streets on the way to the Auditorium Annex the laudation continued. At the hotel Mr. Taft was closeted with Chairman Hitchcock and other campaign chieftains for some time.

An urgent telegram from Indian Harbor, requesting a ten minutes stop was complied with and a large crowd turned out. "Go after Bryan and give him hail Columbia!" was the admonition from the audience and, taking the cue, Mr. Taft "went after Bryan." The labor record of his opponent, he said, began when Bryan helped enact the Wilson and Gorman tariff bill which brought greater disaster to the laboring men of the country than had happened in half a century.

Mr. Taft expressed his satisfaction at being able to speak to laboring men "and show you that I am not, as I have been represented, possessed with horns." He talked of the record of the Roosevelt administration which he declared had placed more labor legislation on the statute books than had been done in a decade previously. With this concluding sentence, Mr. Taft aroused three cheers for himself. "If I am elected President, as I hope and believe I shall be, I purpose, and it will be one of my pleasant duties, to devote my time and all the ability I have to the construction of legislation which shall give labor a square deal and not more than a square deal."

ACTION AGAINST NIGHT-RIDERS

Gov. Ansell Orders Greenville Sheriff to Make Investigation.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 23.—Governor Ansell has taken prompt and vigorous action on the reported operation of "Night Riders" near Greenville. In a letter to Sheriff Gilreath, of that county he requests an investigation and expresses his desire for the prosecution of the guilty parties.

The sheriff of Greenville county was today ordered to make investigation and use every effort to protect life and property.

The United States revenue cutter Itasca, having aboard revenue service cadets in training, passed in the Virginia Capes yesterday on her return from European waters and proceeded to Hampton Roads.

My! What bitter tears Bryan will shed when he learns that he has "fallen from the high pedestal" on which Colonel John Temple Graves put him when the ex-Georgian declared in favor of placing him on the National ticket with Roosevelt.

SHOWERS MONEY TO THE WINDS

Andes Payne, the Great One Minute Advertiser, Created a Sensation on the Streets of This City Yesterday.—Opening Performance Corner Sixth and Red Cross Witnessed by Thousands.

Bob Taylor says: "If you have a dollar spend it as though it were a dry leaf, and you were the owner of countless forests." This seems to be The One Minute Advertiser's motto. As announced through the columns of this paper, the parade took place at 3 o'clock. Andes Payne drove through the streets of the city literally showering coins all along the line of march. In a handsome landau drawn by spirited thoroughbreds; Andes Payne, of Lexington, Ky., President of the Payne Medicine Company, manufacturing "Andes Great Remedies;" robed in his magnificent advertising regalia consisting of $20,000 worth of diamonds, and coat with Uncle Sam's $20 gold coins for buttons, tossed—yes actually tossed—handfuls of money to the right and left as the carriage moved on. The scramble for money was certainly amusing as it was thrown for some distance around. Clerks and customers came rushing together with the throng to engage in the very interesting diversion of scrambling for money. This was the most unique event ever witnessed in the city and will be remembered by all who saw it for a life time.

Many amusing incidents were noted, one was that of a very sedate gentleman, who is noted for his closeness, while standing apart from the crowd noticed just in front of him a shining half dollar, leisurely walking towards it, he had just stooped to pick it up when he was set upon by a crowd of men and boys and borne to the street in a heap, when he was released by the crowd his appearance was that of a football warrior after a lively scrimmage, as he limped away, brushing the dust from his clothing and muttering all sorts of words that would not appear well in print, while the crowd that had trampled him down were further down the street fighting like tigers for the coin which continued to be showered from the carriage. Some boys who followed over the entire line report to have captured as much as from three to five dollars of the Great Advertiser's money. The object of the parade was to announce the location of the show which took place last evening at the vacant lot corner of Sixth and Red Cross, where a big platform was erected for the occasion, and the grounds brilliantly illuminated with electric lights, presented a very pleasing sight. Several thousand witnessed the opening performance.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Tarboro Southerner: S. S. Nash, Jr., left today for Mountain View, Oklahoma, where he has accepted a position in a bank. His many friends will wish Mr. Nash success in his new duties.

—Chapel Hill, Sept. 21.—The enrollment of University students has reached 733. Many from the east were kept away on account of the destructive rains. When all are in the number will probably exceed that of last year.

—News and Observer: The State Department of Agriculture is receiving inquiries almost daily with regard to farm properties in North Carolina from persons residing in other States as a result of the exploitation of the agricultural lands in this State by the department.

—Statesville Landmark: The railroad porject to which Ashe county has voted $100,000 involves the building of a road from Rural Retreat, on the Norfolk and Western, by way of Troutdale, Va., and on to Jefferson and Creston, in Ashe county, by way of the Ballou iron mines, owned by the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company. If this project is carried out, Ashe county will have about 38 miles of track.

—Durham Sun: Rev. J. C. Owens, returned missionary to China, preached three times in Durham Sunday and left Monday for points in the western part of the State. He will visit his old home near Asheville and will then go to Louisville, where he will take a special course. After his studies he will leave, early in the year, for China to resume his work in that foreign field.

—Durham Sun: Yesterday Mayor Graham had several of the species of animals known as wife and woman beaters before him. They were fined one man being made to pay the fine of $20 and the cost. Today there was another of the same kind of animal before him. This animal's name is Ben Stuart, and he was charged with beating Sadie Sears. The mayor fined him $15 and the cost, which was paid.

—Tarboro Southerner: Robert Roberson, the negro who murdered Charles Whichard in Robesonville and was afterwards lodged in the Edgecombe county jail, will be tried at Williamston this week. Judge W. R. Allen will preside. Bill Jenkins and Penny Page, two negroes from Parmele, will be tried for poisoning Penny Page's husband, Handy Page. This created much excitement at Parmele about two months ago.

—Hickory, N. C., Sept. 22—A large and enthusiastic crowd heard J. William Bailey here this evening discuss Democratic doctrines. He began with State issues and, accepting Mr. Elwood Cox's invitation to young men to scrutinize the Republican party in the State, he said that two words would sum up that record, "Holden and Russell." He told of the opinion Butler, Adams, Hilderbrand and Cox had expressed of one another and asked if that was not a nice select party to invite any respectable young man to join. Passing to national issues, Mr. Bailey told of Republican dissension and strife and of Democratic harmony and union. He said that there were three Mr. Tafts, Morgan's Taft, Mr. Roosevelt's Taft, and Mr. Taft's Taft.

—Newbern Sun: Carteret county will have a grand Democratic rally on October 10th at Atlantic, N. C., at which time, the Hon. W. W. Kitchin, the next Governor of the Old North State will address the people of that county. A big crowd is expected on this occasion from Goldsboro, Kinston, Newbern and intermediate points. There will be three brass bands present to furnish music for the occasion and for the accommodation of visitors the boats will leave Morehead City for Atlantic immediately after breakfast on the morning of October 10th, and will arrive at Atlantic about 11 o'clock. A big barbecue will be one of the special features of the occasion and all who desire to go will receive a cordial welcome from Carteret county.

—Charlotte News: The mysterious and baffling disease which has puzzled many of the best of modern doctors, and which is now known as "pellagra" is not new in Charlotte. There is at least one case of it now in a local hospital, and the News understands that within the recent past there have been nine cases in this city and vicinity, four of whom died, four are vastly improved and one recovered entirely. Some time ago The News contained a story about the travels of Dr. Babcock, the noted alienist and head of the South Carolina Hospital for the Insane at Columbia, with his friend, Senator Tillman, in Europe. It was stated that they had spent much time in Italy investigating "pellagra", which seems to be peculiarly an Italian disease, it having existed there long before it made its appearance in this country. The disease comes from eating corn bread or other food prepared from decayed or damaged corn. Senator Tillman expressed the opinion that the corn in the congested districts of Italy did not have a chance to get enough air and was planted too close together. The disease attracts the brain and produces the wildest and most absurd hallucinations on the part of those suffering with it. The difficulty of diagnosis has in the past made it hard to treat the malady. It will be good news to the profession, doubtless, as well as to those who have suffered from the disease, to know that Dr. Babcock considers that a complete cure for the disease is possible. His report of his investigations will be in great demand.

—Mistress—Did you remember to feed the cat every day during my absence? Maude—Every day but one, ma'am. Mistress—And didn't the poor thing have anything to eat all day? Maude—Oh, yes, ma'am. She ate the canary.—Kansas City Journal.

—"Now they say that every woman has ten distinct personalities." "Don't let my wife hear that." "Why not?" "She'll demand a hat for each of them personalities."—Pittsburg Post.

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's Arnica Solve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c at R. R. Bellamy's drug store.

New York, Sept. 23.—The cotton market had a sharp advance and while last prices were off from their best, they showed a net gain of 9 to 10 points with the final tone steady. Sales were estimated at 175,000 bales.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 to 5 points on better cables than expected and increased the gain on covering and renewal of near months bull support. Buying was encouraged by the firm close in Liverpool, apprehensions of unsettled weather in the belt and reports that holders in the interior showed no signs of weakening as a result of the Manchester mill situation. October sold as high as 9.03 and January 8.72 or 19 points net higher. In the later trading prices eased off several points from the top under realizing but the undertone showed steadiness.

Private cables reported no change in the Manchester situation and official advices said that stocks of yarn were diminishing.

Receipts at the ports today were 41,646 bales against 31,961 last week and 29,945 last year. For the week 270,000 bales against 213,882 last week and 221,312 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 7,275 bales against 5,045 last year, and at Houston 12,404 bales against 6,981 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet 10 points advance. Middling uplands 9.40; middling gulf 9.65; sales 56 bales.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Sept. 23.—The movement in dry goods is quite large. Retailers are sending in many small orders for quick shipment. Knit goods and hosiery for immediate shipment are in better demand, but forward business for spring is still slow. Silk piece goods for spring are being shown in a small way at prices five per cent. above the opening prices for fall. Cotton yarns are being bought more freely but at very low figures.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Sept. 23.—The tranquil state into which the stock market fell today after the turmoil of yesterday formed a strong contrast. The transformation was so sudden as to appear unnatural and was, for that reason made the ground for some suspicion and for reserve in speculative commitments. Very large orders were executed by a few influential stock exchange houses who were most active in the recent selling. Their transactions were largest in the two Harriman Pacific stocks and in Reading. Almost half the day's business was done in the first hour. Practically the extreme range of the day's price fluctuations was established in that time. The higher opening prices brought out realizing sales with a relapse which wiped out the gains. Prices rose again before the end of the hour and this fixed the limits of the price movement afterwards. It was traversed many times but without any great animation or urgency. Dealings were greatly congested in the Harriman stocks, Reading and Copper industrials. The day's news was not important and was little regarded, attention being concentrated on the closing up of previous speculative commmitments. The breaking of the drought in the west was heralded with satisfaction but the warning of the probable cold snap to follow made the corn market sensitive. The day ended at the stock exchange with one of the numerous upward swings of prices but with no more assurance displayed in the movement than on previous occasions.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, were $3,222,000 . United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales of stocks today were 801,700 shares.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

GOV. HASKELL NOT EXONERATED

Former Attorney General of Ohio Tells Democratic Leaders About Bribe Fund.

GOVERNOR MAKES REPLY

Charles Squires Produced His Name in Connection With Bribery—Haskell Repeatedly Asks to Disprove Charge.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Columbus, O., Sept. 23.—"If I charged Governor Charles N. Haskell wrongfully, it was because Charles B. Squires gave me his name."

Frank S. Monnett, former attorney general of Ohio, today made this statement on the private car of William J. Bryan, en route from Prospect, Ohio, to Columbus. Mr. Monnett declared, however, that he could not exonerate Governor Haskell from the charges that had been made that he was a party to the $500,000 bribe fund of the Standard Oil Company, nor could he condemn him. He denied exonerating Governor Haskell in a speech in Oklahoma City.

"All that I have against Governor Haskell," he said "is hearsay evidence and I have suggested that if the case were presented to a grand jury it would be shown whether Governor Haskell has been wrongfully accused."

In justice to Governor Haskell Mr. Monnett stated that the Governor had repeatedly asked an opportunity to disprove the charge and had been subpoenaed to appear before the examiner, who was taking testimony in the Standard Oil hearing, but that he did not so appear because the court had ordered the quashing of the testimony.

"I threatened to arrest Mr. Squire if he did not give me the names of the parties to the bribery proposition, whereupon he mentioned Frank Rockefeller, Ferd. B. Squires and Charles N. Haskell, of New York.

Mr. Monnett said further that Governor Haskell 'proned, wired, and wrote" asking an opportunity to exonerate himself and that Governor Haskell was the only one of the three men who did.

The method of payment of bribe, said Mr. Monnett, was that he should be furnished with the key to a safe deposit vault wherein the $500,000 was to be deposited and he was told that he could first go and see it and then let it remain in the deposit box until he retired from office or until he got ready to take the money out. Finding that he was about to be arrested for offering the bribe, Mr. Monnett said that Squire disappeared to New York and that despite his efforts Squire had not been indicted.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—Charles B. Squire was formerly an insurance agent here. He went to New York city several years ago to take the management of a fire insurance company.

Governor Haskell Talks.

Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 23.—When shown the statement of Frank S. Monnett, ex-Attorney of Ohio, Governor Charles N. Haskell said he had no statement to make concerning the alleged Standard Oil deal other than he had made "during the time Sheets, of Ohio, invaded Oklahoma, in the primary campaign making the charge against me.

"My statement at that time," says the Governor, "was 'I had no connection whatever with the affair and know nothing about it.'"

Governor Haskell would make no formal statement, saying there was nothing new in the statement of Mr. Monnett as it embodied nothing which Monnett had not already said in Oklahoma. The Governor said that he prove by a number of Republican editors who were present when Mr. Monnett made a speech in Oklahoma City that Mr. Monnett exonerated him in the speech, whether he intended to or not.

EBTRHARD PLEAS GUILTY

He is Sentenced to Thirty Years' Imprisonment.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Hackensack, N. J., Sept. 23—August Eberhard, on trial here for the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Otillie Eberhard, today changed his plea to guilty and was sentenced to serve thirty years in the State prison.

After a conference between the prosecutor and counsel for Eberhard it was stated to the court today that the prisoner had agreed to plead nonvult. The prisoner's counsel said Eberhard's grand father died in an insane asylum, that his sister now is in an institution for the insane and that the young man has been acting strangely for some time prior to the crime. Judge Parker said the very fact that Eberhard had agreed to change his plea proved that his mental derangement was not severe enough to absolve him from punishment. There remained nothing for the court to do, he said, but to impose sentence immediately. Eberhard heard the sentence without a tremor.

BRYAN ANSWERED BY ROOSEVELT

Lengthy Discussion of Governor Haskell's Fitness For Position of Trust.

A POLITICAL HARANGUE

While Denouncing the Democratic Committee Treasurer Roosevelt Puts in a Plea for Taft and Argues Against Bryan.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Roosevelt tonight, following upon a prolonged conference with members of the Cabinet at the White House, prepared and gave out his reply to W. J. Bryan relative to W. R. Hearst's charge that Governor Haskell, treasurer of the Democratic campaign committee, had represented Standard Oil interests both in Ohio and Oklahoma.

Mr. Bryan had demanded proof of the charges, promising that in the event of their substantiation Governor Haskell would be eliminated from the campaign.

The latter portion of Mr. Roosevelt's deliverance is devoted to criticism of Mr. Bryan's plan for regulating the trusts, which he characterized as a measure that sounds more radical than any advocated by the Republicans, but which in practice would not work. Concluding, Mr. Roosevelt declares that no law defying corporation has anything to fear from Mr. Bryan "save what it would suffer from the general paralysis of business," which would follow Democratic success.

The President spent almost the entire day in getting the letter in shape. An hour was given this morning to a rough draft of it which was submitted to Secretary Garfield and Postmaster General Meyer, both of whom made suggestions as to portions of the communication. About 3 o'clock this afternoon all of the members of the cabinet now in the city, Secretaries Wilson, Straus, Wright, Metcalf and Garfield and Postmaster General Meyer met with the President in the cabinet room at the Executive offices for a conference on the subject which lasted until after 5 o'clock. Two hours more were required in making certain minor changes before Secretary Loeb gave it to the press.

Deeming the reply too long to be sent by wire, the method of communication Mr. Bryan had employed in his challenge to the President, it was forwarded by mail to the Democratic candidate at Lincoln, Neb.

That portion of the President's reply to Mr. Bryan dealing with the charges against Governor Haskell is as follows:

"The White House,
"Washington, D. C., Sept. 23, 08.

"Dear Sir:—In your telegram you speak of so much of the charge against Governor Haskell as dealt with his relations while in Ohio, with the Standard Oil Company. You omit the charge as to his relations with the Standard Oil interests, as shown by his action while Governor of Oklahoma, this very summer, this action being in part taken while he was at Denver, where, as you state, he was by your wish made chairman of the committee which drafted the platform upon which you are standing. In my statement I purposely made no specific allusion to the Ohio matter and shall at this time make none, in spite of its significance, and in spite of the further fact that Governor Haskell's close relations with the Standard Oil interests while he was in Ohio was a matter of common notoriety. In Oklahoma, it is a matter of court record. By this court record it appeared that the Attorney General of the State, elected by the people, obtained an injunction to prevent the Prairie Oil & Gas Company from building a pipe line; and that Governor Haskell found this out while he was at Denver, as appears by the representations for the dissolution of the injunction made in his name on behalf of the State before a court of superior jurisdiction to that which had issued the injunction. In this the Governor states that the acting Governor, in his absence, had asked that the hearing be postponed until he, the Governor, might return and had an opportunity to investigate the controversy. The Governor sets forth in his petition that he is the sole authority to determine such matters and that the Attorney General and the judge of the lower court had no right in the matter, and that the action of the judge of the lower court represented 'an encroachment by the judiciary.' The attorney general opposed the dissolution of the injunction, stating that the Prairie Oil & Gas Company was a foreign corporation which had not accepted the provisions of the Constitution applicable to such corporations, and that without authority of law it was employing a great force of men and teams to dig up, across and into various highways of the State for the purpose of laying its pipe lines. The Governor prevailed, the injunction was suspended, and the pipe line was permitted to continue its work, to use the words of the attorney general 'without any color of law.' I call your attention to the fact that the question is not whether or not the judge erred, or whether the injunction was proper. The point is that the Governor was alert to take out of the hands of the Attorney General what the Attorney General felt was his sworn duty to prevent, an alleged instance of the breaking of the laws by this particular great corporation.

"As far as I have seen, Governor Haskell has not even attempted anything which can be called a defense of this action of his. It thus appears that his action was as inexcusable as it was wanton, except on the theory that in defiance of the Attorney General of the State and at all hazards he intended for some reasons of his own to protect the interest of a great corporation against the law. It has been suggested on his behalf that, after all, he did not favor the Standard Oil but merely the Prairie Oil & Gas Company. This claim is disposed of by the testimony of the Standard Oil itself taken in the latter part of 1907 in the suit now pending before the United States court at St. Louis against the Standard Oil Company. In this testimony the Standard Oil Company, upon being required by the Government to put in a list of all the companies in which it held stock, or in which its subsidiary companies held stock, reported among the others the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, total capital $10,000,000, of which the National Transit Company's proportion was $9,999,500; and furthermore it appears that the National Transit Company had a capital stock of $25,455,200, of which the Standard Oil owned $25,451,650. In other words, this Prairie Oil & Gas Company was owned, all except $500, by the National Transit Company, and this National Transit Company was owned, all except about $3,550 by the Standard Oil Company.

"Now contrast your action in this case of Governor Haskell with Mr. Taft's action as regards Senator Foraker, as set forth in his letter of July 20, 1907, which I quoted in my statement. It was a matter of common notoriety about Senator Foraker as it has long been a matter of common notoriety about Governor Haskell, that he was the defender and supporter of certain great corporate interests and therefore hostile to the policies for which this administration has stood. There was no such convincing proof against Senator Foraker at that time, however, as there was against Governor Haskell, when, as you say, he was with your approval made treasurer of your campaign committee. But Mr. Taft refused to be a party to the renomination of Senator Foraker, even though it was represented that only thus could he advance his own interests, showing by actual deeds that his words were true when he said 'I do not care for the Presidency, if it has come by compromise with anyone on a matter of principle.' With a hundredfold clearer evidence before you as to the connection of Governor Haskell with the Standard Oil than Mr. Taft then had as to the connection of Senator Foraker with any corporation, you nevertheless, having secured Governor Haskell as chairman of the committee to write the platform on which you stand, put him in as treasurer of your campaign committee.

"Let me add that Governor Haskell's utter unfitness for any public position of trust, or for association with any man anxious to make an appeal on a moral issue to the American people, has been abundantly shown wholly irrespective of this action of his in connection with the Standard Oil interests. As an American citizen who prizes his Americanism and his citizenship far above any question of partisanship, I regard it as a scandal and a disgrace that Governor Haskell should be connected with the management of any National campaign. I have not the space in this letter to discuss Governor Haskell's conduct; for instance, in vetoing the child labor bill; or the fact that his name appears as one of the defendants in various suits brought by the Government to prevent the Creek Indians from having certain of their lands fraudulently taken, or his connection with various other matters of the kind; but let me call your attention to his conduct in prostituting to base purposes the State University, as set forth in an article in the Outlook of September 5th last, under the heading of 'Shall the People Rule—in Oklahoma?' In this article you will see that Governor Haskell was given full opportunity to make every explanation and that he made none. After setting forth the facts as to Governor Haskell's conduct, the Outlook article concludes as follows:

"'On this state of affairs, we have two comments to make and two questions to ask.

"'The people of Oklahoma are taxed to support their educational institutions, from the primary school to the university. They pay their money to have their children educated. When the politicians use this money to promote the interests of a political machine or a church sect they are guilty of a breach of trust. What do the tax payers of Oklahoma think of the use which their public servants are making of the public funds? What do they think about this financial policy—the taking of the money due their sons and daughters and diverting it for the benefits of politicians, ecclesiastical and civil?

"'Governor Haskell was one of Mr. Bryan's right hand men in the Democratic convention and, at Mr. Bryan's instance, has been made treasurer of the Democratic National Committee. It is appalling to think what would be the results in the educational systems of the Philippines and Porto Rico, in the digging of the Panama canal, in the work of irrigation and reforestation, in the administration of the Postoffice, the Interior and Agricultural Departments, in the appointments of foreign ministers and consuls if the spirit which has actuated the Democratic authorities in the State of Oklahoma should be permitted to take control of the Federal Government at Washington. Governor Haskell, by actions which speak louder than words has declared his disbelief in Grover Cleveland's motto, "A Public Office is a Public Trust". And Mr. Haskell is a representative leader in the Bryan Democracy. What does Mr. Bryan think of Mr. Cleveland's principle? What do the American people think of Mr. Haskell's contemptuous reversal of it.'

"You close your telegram by saying that you expect and will demand fair and honorable treatment from those who are in charge of the Republican campaign. I am not in charge of the campaign, but am greatly interested in it. I have shown you above fairly and honorably that Governor Haskell is a man who, on every account I have named, is unworthy of any position in our public life. No further investigation of these facts is required. They are spread on the record before you, and they were available before Mr. Haskell was chosen for his position as treasurer."

GERMAN BARK DISABLED.

Picked Up at Sea After Drifting For Five Days.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 23.—With her rudderhead and her masts gone and an ineffectively rigged jury mast, the German bark Brema, Captain Dress commanding, was towed into Hampton Roads this afternoon by the British steamer Lord Ivy. The cargo of tobacco has listed badly to the starboard. The bark was bound from New Orleans to Bremen. She sailed August 22nd, was caught in the recent hurricane off Cape Hatteras, and was battered into a helpless condition. Out of the usual path the bark was not sighted for five days and drifted helplessly at sea. No loss of life is reported.

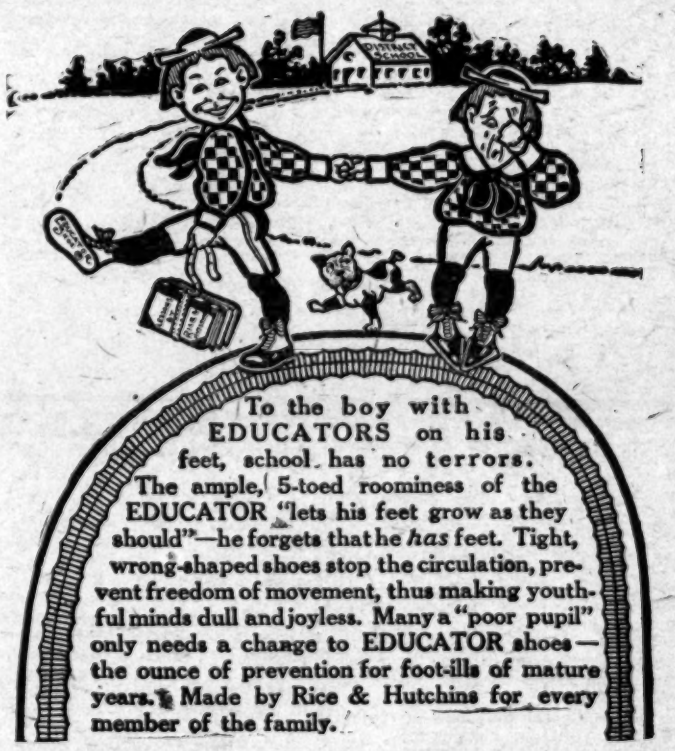
SCHOOL SHOES



To the boy with EDUCATORS on his feet, school has no terrors. The ample, 5-toed roominess of the EDUCATOR "lets his feet grow as they should"—he forgets that he has feet. Tight, wrong-shaped shoes stop the circulation, prevent freedom of movement, thus making youthful minds dull and joyless. Many a "poor pupil" only needs a change to EDUCATOR shoes—the ounce of prevention for foot-ills of mature years. Made by Rice & Hutchins for every member of the family.
